Before you represent yourself

The following information is found on <https://help.flcourts.org/Get-Started>. This is not intended to be legal advice and is for informational purposes only.

Terms you may hear if you are going to court without a lawyer are:

- “Pro-Se,” meaning “for oneself” or “on behalf of oneself.”
- “Self-Represented Litigant,” meaning a person who seeks to file, pursue, or respond to a case without the assistance of a lawyer authorized to practice before the court.

Both terms mean you do not have a lawyer and are choosing to represent yourself in a legal proceeding.

In most court cases, there are important issues at stake, specific timelines to meet, and complex rules to follow. For these reasons, it is always best to talk to a lawyer when things become complicated or confusing.

If you cannot afford a lawyer, legal help is available at free or reduced fees. Organizations below can help in many areas of law beyond family law.

IMPORTANT: As a Pro Se Petitioner:

1. You must follow all courtroom rules and procedures as though you are an attorney practicing in that circuit. You should prepare yourself by researching laws and rules.
2. You should know and follow the rules relevant to your case.
3. You must follow the instructions provided in each form you file. Make sure you file all documents required for your case. Provide proof of all requirements.

4. You are responsible for knowing any local court rules that may affect your case. Local court rules are different in each circuit. Courts also issue administrative orders. Review administrative orders that apply to your case for important requirements. You can often find local rules and administrative orders on the circuit court website.
5. You alone are responsible for moving the case forward. You are the one who requests a final hearing or trial date. You must also give the other side proper notice for all hearings.

Tips to Get Started:

Step 1: Review the Law – Florida Statutes and Rules of Court

Different types of cases such as civil, family, probate, traffic, criminal, etc., have different requirements. This information is provided as a general guide for people trying to handle their own cases and is not intended as a substitute for legal advice from an attorney. Each case has its own particular set of circumstances, and an attorney may advise you of what is best for you in your individual situation. If you need help finding an attorney, please contact the Lawyer Referral Service at 561-687-3266 or <https://www.palmbeachbar.org/lawyer-referral-service/>.

Find the Florida Statutes and the Rules of Procedure that pertain to your case. Researching and understanding these resources are very important to every case.

Statutes and rules are not the only things you need to know about in order to handle your case. Court rulings in previous cases, known as “case law,” can also affect your case. To find case law you may need to visit a law library. Law libraries often provide access to legal databases, such as Westlaw or LexisNexis Advance, which can be used to find case law. Alternatively, you may find some case law on Google Scholar (<https://scholar.google.com/>) by selecting the Case law option before searching.

Note on Rules of Court Procedure: Different case types have different rules of procedure. For example, dependency and delinquency cases are governed by the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, whereas dissolution of marriage cases are governed by the Family Law Rules of Procedure. The Florida Bar provides links to all the various rules of court procedure for Florida courts (<https://www.floridabar.org/rules/ctproc/>) on their website.

More information may be found online at the public library, a law library at the county courthouse, or a law school library in your area. Local Family Law or Self-Help Centers (<https://www.mypalmbeachclerk.com/services/self-service-center>) and law libraries (<https://www.15thcircuit.com/services/law-library/>) may be able to assist you.

Step 2: Forms

To start a case, you will need to file a petition, complaint, statement of claim, or similar document. If someone has brought a case against you, then you may need to file an answer or response with the court.

Florida's laws and rules are complex and can be confusing if you do not have a background or training in the law. Forms can help people work on their legal matters but are not a substitute for legal advice from an attorney. Standard forms are available for many family law cases, but other case types may not have readily available forms. Since many family law forms exist, we will use a family law case as an example of how to proceed with a case.

1. Read the General Information for Self-Represented Litigants in Family Law Cases document. Most of the information found in this document is not repeated in the instructions included with the family law forms.
 - General Information for Self-Represented Litigants in Family Law Cases <https://www.flcourts.org/content/download/217367/file/geninfo.pdf> [pdf]
2. Read What Happens in Court to understand the steps involved in a family case. Your case may be different, but this is a good example of many of the steps necessary for handling a legal case.
 - What Happens in Court <https://help.flcourts.org/Get-Started/The-Process-What-Happens-in-Court>
3. Complete the forms you're required to file.
4. Review the Family Forms Frequently Asked Questions if you still need help.
 - Family Forms Frequently Asked Questions <https://help.flcourts.org/Get-Started/Find-a-Form/Frequently-Asked-Questions>
5. Print your completed form(s), sign and notarize them as required and submit the form to the clerk's office via regular mail, in person or by scanning the signed PDF and electronically eFiling.
 - Notary Public Requirement <https://help.flcourts.org/Get-Started/Find-a-Form/Notary-Public-Requirement>
 - eFiling <https://www.myflcourtagency.com/>

Step 3: File Your Forms

You will need to file your forms with the Clerk of Court in the county where the case will be heard. Forms may be filed electronically or in person.

Follow the instructions for your forms. Have the forms notarized if necessary. Have the other party served when necessary. Keep copies of everything you file with the clerk.

If you have further questions about how to have the other party served, how to file forms, etc., you may contact the clerk's office for more information.

A filing fee will be required for most cases. The amount of the fee will depend on the type of case you have. Filing fees are set by statute.

FEE WAIVER: For some cases you may apply to the clerk of the court for a fee waiver. In addition to the waiver of filing fees, you may also qualify for a waiver of the $10.00 fee for the Summons for Service of Process and the service of process fee for a sheriff to deliver documents to another party. To qualify for a fee waiver, you will need to fill out and file an Application for Determination of Civil Indigent Status

Step 4: Going to Court

Your case is your responsibility. When you handle your own case, it is your responsibility to move your case forward, to serve or provide notice to other parties and witnesses, to demand discovery, to file all necessary motions, to meet all deadlines, to appear for court, and ultimately to present your case at a hearing to a judge.

Most cases will have an initial hearing where the judge received the information that was filed with the clerk and the parties explain why they are in court and what they would like the judge to decide. The judge may see what the parties can agree on and what they will still need to resolve. After this first hearing, the parties may be given instructions on what they need to do next and a court date for a hearing on the issues that still need to be resolved.

Some cases may be referred to mediation. Mediation is a way for people who are having a dispute to talk about their case with a mediator. A mediator cannot choose sides or provide legal advice, but he or she may be able to help the parties come to an agreement or settlement. If you go to mediation and you still can't solve your problems, you can go back to court and the judge will make the final decisions in your case.

If your case goes to a hearing, be prepared with copies of all of the information you have filed with the clerk and the information you want the judge to hear. Read Preparing for Court: Courtroom Expectations (<https://help.flcourts.org/Get-Started/The-Process-What-Happens-in-Court/Preparing-for-Court-Courtroom-Expectations>).

When the judge makes a ruling on your case, she or he will file an order with the clerk. The order will tell all parties what has been decided and what needs to happen next. All sides must abide by the order.

While forms and online tools can help a pro se litigant handle some legal issues, going to court can be a difficult and intimidating process. If at any time you feel that handling your own case is too much, contact an attorney for assistance.

IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

IN RE: STANDING ORDER FOR CASE MANAGEMENT FOR SUBMISSION OF AGREED CASE MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR
CASES FILED ON OR AFTER APRIL 30, 2021

STANDING ORDER FOR CASE MANAGEMENT AND SUBMISSION OF AGREED CASE MANAGEMENT PLAN IN COUNTY CIVIL CASES IN THE PALM BEACH COUNTY COURT FILED ON OR AFTER APRIL 30, 2021
(DCMSO)

Pursuant to Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.200(a), Florida Rule of General Practice and Judicial Administration 2.545, and Administrative Order 3.107 entered by the Chief Judge of this Circuit, the parties are informed of the following information and procedures applicable to civil lawsuits filed on or after April 30, 2021:

1. SERVICE OF THIS ORDER. The Plaintiff is directed to serve a copy of this Order with each Summons issued in this case. One copy of this Order is to be filed with the Clerk of the Circuit Court with proof of service.

2. CIVIL CASE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM. The Supreme Court of Florida has established guidelines for the prompt processing and resolution of civil cases. This Court has adopted a case management system to help meet those guidelines. In contested cases, the parties are required to participate in the case management system. The case management system requires early consultation and cooperation among the parties for the preparation and submission of an Agreed Case Management Plan and early involvement by the Court. The Agreed Case Management Plan requires the parties to identify a case track, confer in a good faith and attempt to narrow the matters in controversy, identify the issues that require direct involvement by the Court, and establish a schedule for addressing those issues.¹ The Agreed Case Management Plan may be accessed at the Court's website at: <https://15thcircuit.com/civil-differentiated-forms-and-orders>.

Unless all of the Defendants have been served and have been defaulted or dropped, an Agreed Case Management Plan must be submitted to the assigned divisional queue via the Court's online scheduling system (OLS) as an attachment, in PDF format, to a proposed Order Accepting Agreed Case Management Plan on or before 130 days from the date of filing of the initial complaint. If the parties are unable to agree on an Agreed Case Management Plan by the applicable deadline, a case management conference will be scheduled by the Court or the Court will review and issue an Order Implementing Case Management Plan without agreement of the parties. No matters that arise as a result of this standing order, including lack of agreement, will be set on the Court's Uniform Motion Calendar and will, instead, be settled by the Court either at the case management conference or via an Order Implementing Case Management Plan without agreement of the parties. If a case management conference is scheduled, attendance by trial counsel and those parties who are not represented by counsel is mandatory.

If all Defendants are served and defaulted or dropped, the Plaintiff will file the appropriate documentation to pursue a Default Final Judgment within 130 days of the filing of the complaint and Final Judgment is to be entered or set for hearing within 150 days of the filing of the complaint.

3. NON-APPLICABILITY TO SMALL CLAIMS CASES. The above outlined civil case management system does not apply to cases proceeding under the Florida Rules of Small Claims. However, when parties to a small claims case (including Personal Injury Protection cases) file a Stipulation to Invoke the Rules of Civil Procedure, the civil case management system will apply. Therefore, parties to small claims cases who invoke the Rules of Civil Procedure should submit an Agreed Case Management Plan and Order Approving the Agreed Case Management Plan as outlined above along with their Stipulation to Invoke the Rules of Civil Procedure.

4. MEDIATION/ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR). ADR provides parties with an out-of-court alternative to settling disagreements. Mediation is a type of ADR wherein an independent third party attempts to arrange a settlement at a conference between the parties. The Court requires the parties to participate in Mediation prior to trial unless the parties agree to another form of ADR.
